Artists of the Month:

February Colin Moore Carving

"After 15 years of working as a model maker for film, television, theatre and museums, I have now returned to my previous life as an artist. It feels like I never left, picking up naturally from all those years past.

The sculptural works I am now concentrating on begin first in the soft material of modelling clay. I then convert this to a hard material called 'car bog', working this to its finish. A second and final mould is then made, with the finished work cast from epoxy resin mixed with marble powder.

My influences in style are rooted in the classical Greek and Roman arts firstly, with secondary influences coming from Gothic and Socialist Romanticism.

My ideas circle around the beauty and genius of human endeavour, and the gravity of the situation that we as modern humans are moving toward.

I call the work Post Industrial Icons."

Artist Demonstration:
Saturday 4 February 2 pm - 4 pm

March Anita Tang Painting, printmaking, mixed media, photography, jewellery

"I was a primary and high school art educator in Canada for 15 years before moving to Australia. Life here has given me a new perspective and a chance to take my love of art in a new and different direction.

One of my own teachers provided me with a broad experience in visual art and, as a result, I love to work in a variety of styles and media. Painting, printmaking, mixed media and photography have been long time areas of my arts practice, with jewellery introduced in the past couple of years.

A favourite summer pastime for me is walking on the beach or in the park to collect nature's treasures. Sometimes these natural found materials such as feathers and leaves are incorporated into my work. I am most drawn to the aspects of experimentation and exploration in the creative process.

In my jewellery making each pendant or earring is hand printed with a block print design on natural leather. I strive to handcraft each piece to create unique accessories for those who desire something different.

I sincerely hope you will enjoy what I have brought to Pepper Street."
