Pseudo Sisters Textiles/Toys

Mio Monkeys created by the Pseudo Sisters.

"Relaxation, creativity and amusement. These are the rewards of making Mio Monkeys. We are two friends who share similar interests and skills and who have engaged in creative pursuits together previously. We both have formal qualifications and skills in the textile area and are hoarders of beautiful fabrics. We both appreciate the visual and tactile qualities of textiles and enjoy working with colour to construct our quality characters. Each monkey develops an individual personality and is named accordingly - coming to life - so that it is often hard to part with them.

Our goal is our own satisfaction and enjoyment but we hope they appeal and bring enjoyment to others also, young and old alike."

Carol and Maude Bath Textiles/Felt

Exploring Notan Design with silk and wool.

Well known textile artists and sisters, Carol and Maude Bath, explore the possibilities of Notan design in their favourite medium, Nuno felt.

"Notan is a traditional Japanese design technique involving the use of positive and negative space to create images. The most well known Notan design is the black and white Yin and Yang symbol. Notan are usually made with stencils, but the technique lends itself beautifully to Nuno felting.

Using this magic process, we combine the translucent quality of silk and the opacity of Merino fleece to create wonderful patterns which play with light and dark. We draw inspiration from various regions of the world, including close to home in the natural beauty of the Murray River - as well as far away travels - from which we return overflowing with inspiring images which are yearning to be interpreted in our work.

Our travels have provided many exhibiting opportunities both here in Australia and overseas. We hope you enjoy our display at Pepper Street."
